

GM FOODS POLICY

Direct Delivered Produce Limited

Genetically Modified Foods

It is the policy of DDP to purchase, store and sell foods which meet all food safety requirements, including those of the Food Safety Act 1990.

DDP believes that there are currently genuine concerns with regard to the consumption of Genetically Modified Foods. In support of these concerns DDP has worked closely with its suppliers and can state that at the present time it does not knowingly store or sell any genetically modified produce.

In addition it is not part of the DDP company policy to introduce such foods in the future.

This policy statement is subject to ongoing review and any change of both the law and our customers concerns.

Signed.
